The Audrey Nelson Award for Excellence in Safe Patient Handling and Mobility

Description

This award recognized excellence in safe patient handling and mobility. It will recognize the accomplishment of individuals and/or organizations in any of the following areas (researchers, front line clinical staff from a wide variety of disciplines, organizations, and safe patient handling advocates are welcome to apply).

1. Research Excellence: Programs of research addressing important gaps in the science, is widely disseminated, & contributes to improved worker, patient or organization outcomes.
2. Organizational Excellence: Organizational excellence demonstrated in implementing and sustaining evidence-based safe patient handling and mobility programs and organizational culture change.
3. Excellence in Clinical Leadership: Demonstrated leadership excellence to promote and implement safe patient handling and mobility (SPHM) program(s). Clinician nominees should spend at least 50% of their time in clinical practice and be active proponents of SPHM.
4. Policy Excellence: Promotion of SPHM policy (including worker and patient safety), sometimes facing resistance and seemingly insurmountable obstacles.
